

TEAM JABOURI KEEPING BUSY IN THE OFF-SEASON WITH PREPARATION FOR AN EXCITING 2008 SEASON

After a very successful rookie Pro season in the CMRC National SuperMoto Series, Adam Jabouri, 16, is preparing for a focused 2008 season. Focused, that is, on SuperMoto. More specifically, the 450 and Open Class.

“Last year was a good year” commented Jabouri “I got to win a couple of road races on my Kawasaki ZX-6 (as a Novice) as well as steadily improve my Pro standing in SuperMoto. By the end of the season I got to win a couple of heat races, which was amazing as I was now at the pace of Canada’s top riders. Another highlight almost getting an AMA #1 plate at the NASMOTO East Coast finals, where I qualified on pole but had some bad luck in the final.”

Racing a Kawasaki ZX-6, KX250F, and a KX450F was a challenge as they each required a different style. In 2008, Adam will focus on Kawasaki’s awesome 450. Jabouri Racing is further developing this machine into a potent SuperMoto racer, with further upgrades and development to the chassis, clutch, and braking components.

Preparation for 2008 includes being at the Motorcycle Shows. Recently, at the Super Show, Adam had the privilege on an on-stage interview with legendary announcer Frank Woods.

The interview, which included Pro 450 Champion Aaron Macdonald, covered rider preparation, goals, and sponsor participation – that included much praise for Nexo Sports support for the sport as well as some of Canada’s leading riders.

For Adam, preparation includes riding. Where in the middle of winter? Indoors and on the ice! The Tilsonburg Indoor MX track has been a boon for riders in Southern Ontario since it opened last year. In addition, ice racing keeps the rust away!

Team Jabouri Racing is looking forward to an exciting 2008 season!
